What can I say from now on
When we're nose dived into our own selves
I don't know how I live with this impasse

When surrounded by this pain
They hung us in our own dreams
Not to kill us in this life,
Just to choke us

Our hearts
Have turned to stone by boundaries
What I just know is
This endless solitude
Will always choke us

What can I do without you?
When you're in my dreams
I don't know,
I just choke in your pain

When surrounded by this stalemate
They imprison us in our own faults
Not to kill us in this life,
Just to choke us

Our hearts
Have turned to stone by boundaries
What I just know is
This vicious circle
Will always choke us
