All the icicles falling falling ooh oh
all the icicles falling falling ooh oh all the icicles are falling down like tiny little daggers in the ground i'd better run for cover or they'll soon be sticking in the softened spots inside of me

all the icicles falling falling ooh oh some clouds came through my window but after you left i forgot to close they came in and collected over my bed im swear that im telling the truth and truth be tell im better off dead

all the icicles falling falling ooh oh
all the icicles falling falling ooh oh
all the icicles falling falling ooh oh but i know one day the sun will come and the icicles will have no choice but to melt and i'll forget how this felt
