"This Much"

I must be the only one awake.
The windows on my street have all gone dark.
Lying with my back against the wall,
The saddest things don't seem so sad as before.

You're the only one I'll ever love,
You're the only one I'll ever love,
This much.

Listening for cars out on the street
Imagining the next time that we meet
Lying with my back against the wall,
The saddest things don't seem so sad at all.

You're the only one I'll ever love,
You're the only one I'll ever love,
This much.

I must be the only one awake.
The windows on my street have all gone dark.
