

Letters Burning "In Vegas"

Visit "In Vegas" on MotoLyrics.com

I caught a glimpse of something deadly from the corner of my eye Illuminated by the dim set lighting Now I feel like it is something threatening leading me to my demise Exaggerated by the hotel patterns

Who can I call in Vegas from some excess company?
Who do I know; the setting is perfect with a full moon
out tonight

I got a kiss from someone pretty but I didn't catch her name
Intoxicated by the empty bottles
Now I fear that there's someone testing leading me into the flames
Emancipated by the countless sinning

Who can I call in Vegas from some excess company?
Who do I know; the setting is perfect with a full moon
out tonight

There is something deadly here, there is something deadly
