I'm sorry to distract you with my childlike fantasies
And I know it's almost midnight our time is running out
We know what can happen this spell is almost over
We know what can happen in this fairytale.
You were queen and I was king with a happy ending
Let's make believe let's make believe it's not a dream.
I just want to release you and save you from this curse
You lye asleep in your glass coffin waiting for someone
Just one kiss from my lips to take you out of this place
Just one kiss from my lips to wake you up.
You were queen and I was king with a happy ending
Let's make believe let's make believe it's not a dream.
This story and it's pages as we enter different stages
I fly away without you and go on to different chapters
