

Levellers "Miles Away"

Visit "Miles Away" on MotoLyrics.com

Do you ever think that we might be the same
Or do you see the world in such a different way?
It seems that parties, raves and lazy summer days
Have now all gone

And if you're old or young
Just wanna have a little fun
Then you're outta line

So tell me once again the real cause of all this pain
Weren't you once young before?
Didn't you try to change the score?
I can't believe it was so many years ago

Have you forgotten how it feels
To run naked in the field?
I hope it's not so

I always hope this place might stay the same
But you reached the point of no return again
Another face is being burnt and raped
For a moment away

Well, it's the price you say
That we all have to pay
For a minute's say

I just can't believe
It's really worth the bloody grief
With the money that you save
You just take a life away

The blood you steal
From all the people that you fear
I know that it's so

Visit Levellers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.