One day, well I will disappear and you won't see me for years
And years, cause I will jump this train and with each mile I cross,
Well I'll remember all the time I've lost.
And I will sleep, Darlin' with a peace, that you could not give me all these years.
'Cause I was never free, free to pick you up and take you to my dreams, places I've never seen
'Cause the train was made for leavin'
And I was made for dreamin' of never comin' back, just roll on down the track.
A lonesome whistle blows
Like it's callin' me, to leave behind, the man I've come to be.
And it sings a song of pain in me
I can hear it ring, in my ears, I hear it roll away
And the sound it fades, just like the love I gave My urge to go is here to stay
'Cause a train was made for leavin'
And I was made for dreamin', of never comin' back Just roll on down the track
'Cause a train was made for leavin'
And I was made for dreamin'
I'm never comin back
Roll on down the track
