

Adema "Promises"

Visit "Promises" on MotoLyrics.com

I went outside to take a walk
So I could relive memories
I thought that you would lend a hand
But you were never ever there

It's all in your mind, you do what you wanna do
Your promises are all played out
You've got your wish, you've worn me down
I've treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you

I lost my way when you left home
I thought that you could change your life
What did I do? Why do you lie?
You've walked back in, my hands are tied

It's all in your mind, you do what you wanna do
Your promises are all played out

You've got your wish, you've worn me down
I've treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you

It's all in your mind, you do what you want to me
It's all in your mind, you do what you want to me
I'm tired, I'm so damn angry with you
You're not gonna change, I see who you really are

Your promises are all played out
You've got your wish, you've worn me down
I treated you the best I could
I realize that I don't need you

Your promises, your promises, your promises
They're all played out, you're so played out
You're so played out, you're so played out
They're all played out

Visit Adema page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

