Headed north on a one-way trip
I never thought I'd be back this way
I never thought I'd be missing you
Enough to suffer for the whole night through

Headed south and I didn't look back
I rode the wind off a beaten track
Tried running from the thought of you
Haunted down by what I know is true

To the north, to the south
It don't matter
Every road leads to you
(I'm coming home)

All roads lead to you
Wherever I go
Every time I told you I was just passing through
What my heart didn't know was all roads lead to you

Headed east on an Amtrak train
I hit the city in the pouring rain
I never thought I'd be calling you
Every hour from that hotel room

Headed west on a jumbo jet
I rode off into the red sunset
I stood there knocking on the devil's door
Wondering what the hell I'm searchin' for

To the east, to the west
It don't matter
Every road leads to you
(I'm coming home)

All roads lead to you
Wherever I go
Every time I told you I was just passing through
What my heart didn't know was all roads lead to you

All my life, the winding road I've followed
Has led me straight to your arms

All roads lead to you
(Gotta get back to you, baby)
Wherever I go
(Ah, yeah, yeah)
Every time I told you I was just passing through
What my heart didn't know was all roads lead to you

I'm coming home to you, baby, ooo

All roads lead to you
(I'm coming home)
All roads lead to you
(Never goin' away again)

All roads lead to you
(Ah, ha, yeah)
All roads lead to you
All roads lead to you
(Gotta get back to you, woman)

All roads lead to you
All roads lead to you
All roads lead to you
