With the shrieks of the gulls in the sky I met the dark side of the moon

The winds coming with the lonesome of the full moon nights are creeping me

I am cold

With frozen blood no pulse of heart want blood you tremble for lonesome

Only the further stars shattering my heart

The punish of the nights passing without faith freezing my blood.

Not only the sky severing you from me

You are the punish of my immortality my sore bleeding to eternity

You are the one glitter my frozen heart loves

Your heart chaining me up the me immortal punishing my eyes waiting for the lights coming from darks

My soul calling you blessed more than blood

While it's burning

The gulls are giving you to me

The depleted in moonless night
