"Painful Pursuit Of Passion And Purpose"

If we're not doing this for each other, we shouldn't do it

Because once the passion's gone, the desire's gone

And we might as well give up

It's so hard to find a place for yourself

When you're constantly displaced and replaced by perfection

Deserving doesn't seem to mean anything

To those serving the purpose

When they have everything and you have nothing

Not even the most vivid imagination

Could scheme a dream to change it

Dealing with the pain simply means

Standing to withstand anything

Never kneeling to the forced feeling of failure
