It's your turn to light the fire
I'm fed up of getting burnt
How thoughtless of you that I am blistered
How selfish of you to think you're right

Now, I have the key to your desire
How foolish was I to think you're kind
These burns and aches riddle between me
She's not so nice I now can see

Seen but unspoken
I wish I was
But now, I'm left all for you

Is there a smile to hide that gaze
If there's not don't look anyway
Remove yourself so I can follow
Just to catch your name, it'll do me well

Seen but unspoken
I wish I was
But now, I'm left all for you
