Open your eyes, our whole world is doomed to mediocrity,
Remember the glorious sun of our reign
'Cause now our civilization is to end
So wake up and break the bounds of hypocrisy.
(Your brothers they're killing, your soil they're treading)
Don't you hear their profane chants?
Don't you see the burning lands?
You thought they just were too primitive,
Creeping creatures weak and aggressive,
Hellish creatures you couldn't perceive.
I've seen my mother killed,
I've seen my sister raped,
I've seen my father tortured,
I've seen my wife murdered.
Sometimes in my dreams,
Stained with blood and screams,
I, above the skies,
Delight in their cries
And in the darkest night,
The sweet taste of fight.
I feed on their fright,
Utter their last rites;
Tears of blood are running on my face,
Erase!
No way out, our time has come under the seal of destruction.
You thought they were nothing but beasts, they were
legion,
Now you are the only survivors of our civilization.
(Our deliverance lies in revenge and retaliation)
I want to see them burning,
I want to hear them screaming,
Their faces distorted by the worst pain.
I want to see them crawling,
I want to see them suffering.
(Your brothers they're killing, your soil they're treading)
Shouting for revenge and retaliation.
I want to see them dying,
Faces distorted by the worst pain.
