"Say You Love Me"

I said not to fall in love Can't hear anybody, this kind of loneliness is really pitiful Loving once more will bring more loneliness
Why do you still not understand the freedom I need?
One word made you more distant from me
Don't make me think happiness will eventually collapse
When it's a person's loneliest time tears won't fall

Say you love me, say it to my ear It's really been so long that I've forgotten this type of palpitating

Love is too hard to understand, we still don't understand How many of these sour delights are real?
Say you love me, use your hands to give me warmth
Even if you're unable to prove how long you can love me
I know you want to hide, I'm not asking for much Can we look at the sky together? The last minute
