I left you alone
So you could learn to grow
Watching every move
Watching evil in the grove

Dime a crime
Dime a crime

I left you alone
So you could be alone
Watching over you didn't know
Watch as old as it is slow

She frayed and I can't see the net
He stayed and opted to forget
Her tubetop, stitched-top, cigarettes
His suit and Hitchcock do the rest
You're fading? I can't see the sun
You hate it? Stop, drop, leave, and run
New wave and hopscotch are mine.
