Strung out, strung out again
I'm looking for that second chance
I've reached out, I've reached out for friends
I think I know how the story ends

If this world has let you down then leave it
If you're lost among the crowd defeated
If you can't see past your frown and cheated
You're feeling like there must be more to life than this

Face down, face down again
Injected just below the skin
Break out, break out of this
I think I've got the itch again

If this world has let you down then leave it
If you're lost among the crowd defeated
If you can't see past your frown and cheated
You're feeling like there must be more to life than this

If I gave it all up do you
Do you think I, do you think I survive it
And if I walked right up to you should Should I greet you or should I lay down and die?

And I came full circle with you would you take me?
Take me back in your life and I tried so hard so you'd be Proud of me, proud of me, proud of me
Proud of me, proud all the time

Proud all the time
Proud all the time
Proud all the time

Strung out

If this world has let you down then leave it
If you're lost among the crowd defeated
If you can't see past your frown and cheated
You're feeling like there must be more to life than this

If this world has let you down then leave it
If you're lost among the crowd defeated
If you can't see past your frown and cheated
You're feeling like there must be more to life than this

Strung out again
I strung out again
Strung out again
Strung out again
Strung out again
