I faced my demons wrestling these angels to the ground and all that I could find was a thin line between all the saints and villians it was crossed in my own mind

someday im gonna find it wish I knew what I was looking for it's all in disarry
I woke up this morning dont know where im going but it's alright
I wouldn't have it any other way struggling between the facts and fiction im alone but I'm alive everyone around me is trying to make a statement then theres me I'm just trying to survive someday im gonna find

wish I knew what I was looking for
i woke up this morning dont know where im going but its alright I wouldnt't have it any other way if this was any other day I'd pretend to know where I stand I just dont know just dont know someday Im gonna find it wish I knew what I was looking for its all in disarray

I woke up this morning dont know where im going but its alright I wouldn't have in any other way someday I will find it wish I knew what I was looking for
its all in disarray
its alright
