Climb on top of all you despise
It's a better view from the lies
Two steps behind before I've begun
Time stops to tell me all I could have done
And I'll say

How long 'til the world will be completed
How many times will be history repeated
How long will it take
How long
How long
I want to go, will you
Show me the way

I'd rather be wrong than be deceived
To thinking that I believe
That I can stand to be here on my own
There's too many questions that we won't ask
In hopes that this too will pass
But how far down to we have to go before we know it

How long 'til the world will be completed
How many times will history be repeated
How long will it take
How long
How long
I want to go, will you
Show me the way

How long 'til the world will be completed
How many times will history be repeated
How long will it take
How long
How long
I want to go, will you
Show me the way

How long 'til the world will be completed
How many times will history be repeated
How long 'til the words fall to the pages
How many times 'til all we can say is save us
