

Lifetime

"Today's The Day"

Visit "Today's The Day" on MotoLyrics.com

Taken back inside a memory you had of me
You left it far behind
It was a vivid dream of everything
That's christened black and white
And in that dream you turned and stopped
To see that everything was simply drained of life
A figurine that was painted pale,
Pale green fashioned on that night

Today's the day
To end all days
And although I'm gone
I still remain

And as you woke up you knew right away
That something's changed
The day has moved without you
Another state, another state of mind
That left you black and blue
I saw you standing there
In disarray and so confused
And then I promised that
I'd never turn my back on you, cause

Today's the day
To end all days
And although I'm gone
I still remain

Today's the day
To end all days
And although I'm gone
I still remain

Visit Lifetime page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.