"An Argument"

Leave me here
Let me pick at my own wounds for once
Solitary
I look to see
And then I ask myself "what is there for me?"
Only a simple scene

Leave me be
Stop calling out my name
I know not who you are
So what am I to do?
I disappear,
And I retreat into the singing shadows
Serenity

This moment is mine
All alone

They all give you one argument of holding hands
You speak of islands
Win't you see?
All I want to hear is the violent rush of silence
Please don't complicate things
Please just consume it

This moment is mine
All alone

Walk away
Take it all
'Til I lock all things out
Before I kill everything
This life needs no one else
