[Verse One]

When you look into the mirror in the morning, do you recognize who you see?

When I look into the mirror in the morning, I don't see anything.

What happens when the sun don't rise and the birds don't wanna sing?

And even the flowers for the dead, die and then they stink, and then they shrink and even a friend of mine said that a shrink might work.

And I was thinking bout clearin my mind, but im afraid that it might hurt.

And just when it seem like I got the whole world at my door, the bell ring, and I open up for the rain.

[Chorus]

Im ready for the world

Im ready for you girl

Im ready for the world

Im ready for you girl

Im ready for whatever

For now and forever

Im ready for whatever

For now and forever

Im ready for the world

the the the world

Im ready for the world

the the the world

Like, where did they get a load?

Where did they get a load of me?
