I know a story, and if you lend me an ear and a halfway open mind
You may discover something about yourself
"I see you're distracted,"
Said the carnival master and pointed down to the broom
I should have been pushing
And he gently took me aside, and said:

Every task before you is a challenge to succeed

Oh, oh, oh, moment to moment
Like every breath is a step to forever
Oh, oh, oh, moment to moment boy
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up

I remember in passing
But the fool that I was couldn't see for the next ten years
Until I discovered, like waking up from a dream
Instead of a master, or the flying trapeze
I was down here pushing a broom and watching the actors
And I heard again his words sayin'

Every choice before you was a challenge to succeed

Oh, oh, oh moment to moment
And every breath is a step to forever
Oh, oh, oh moment to moment boy
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up

And it's too late, is it too late to remedy?
Will you teach me? Will you teach me?

Every choice before you was a challenge to succeed

Oh, oh, oh moment to moment
And every breath is a step to forever
Oh, oh, oh moment to moment boy

You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up
You don't give up, give up, you don't give it up
Give up, give up, you don't give it up
