He drove away, I couldn't move
First bitter taste of what love can do
I sat on the porch, alone and crying
It hurt so bad I coulda died

Then Mama came and wrapped her arms around me
Told me god has someone there to hold me
Dried my tears and she just held me

That's what angels do, that's what love is for Point you to a window when you can't find the door
And you're all out of faith and it's more than you can take
And you're not strong enough, you need someone to pull you through
That's what angels do

Big city streets, bright city lights
Some days the dreams aren't worth the fight
Miss my home town, wide open space
A clear blue sky, a slower pace

Then my phone rings and I hear his voice Saying baby girl I'm proud of you You're not alone, he gives me hope
He lifts me up

That's what angels do, that's what love is for
Point you to a window when you can't find the door
And you're all out of faith, it's more than you can
And you're not strong enough, you need someone to
pull you through
That's what angels do

When you're all out of faith and it's more than you can take
And you're not strong enough, you need someone to
pull you through
That's what angels do
Yeah, that's what angels do

And there's no way on earth
That you can't make it work
That's what angels do
