Chorus

Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia

Alle, alleluia

Verse 1

The desolation in his soul has been elevated

Leaving in his heart the dying rays of the sun

His only glorious day has not been consummated

Because his soul has always been in the run

He showed no sign of sorrow or regret

But his inner agony was there for all to see

Revealing his internal wisdom was his main fret

In spite of it all, heâ€™s always yearned to be free

Chorus

Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia

Alle alleluia

Verse 2

He was crushed by the deception of a tigress

Whose spells has devoured his inner control

Shortly thereafter, he began to spiritually regress

As his circumstances became his main role

He never felt that he could ever be wise

Because heâ€™s always dwelled on his inner stain

What happened to the coldness in his eyes?

I hope heâ€™s finally learned to smile again

Chorus

Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia

Alle alleluia

Alleluia, alleluia, alleluia

Alle alleluia
