Day by Day
I seek the possibilites
Searching for
The one and only thing that I lack
Look at the hourglass

Count down, a decision I should cast
Let the mind race, at a fast pace
Take me to another place

Lost and found again
Right before the fork in the road
I start then begin
Right before the fork in the road
I spilt apart in two
Never to discover you
I carry this giant load
Left me before the fork in the road

Stop
I believe the day is dawning before the truth
No hint no clue, who knows what to do?
Green again
Time to chase those feelings away

Count down, a decision I should cast
Let the mind race, at a fast pace
Take me to another place

Lost and found again
Right before the fork in the road
I start then begin
Right before the fork in the road
I spilt apart in two
Never to discover you
I carry this giant load

Times ticking you must make up your mind (Yes I will, yes I will)
The moment is gone without a thrill

(Yes I will, yes I will)
