Now when your blue skies turn to grey

And your eyes still turn away

It's the time to let it go

Out of the dark will shine a light

Everything's in black and white

'Til you let your spirit grow.

Stars would shine above you

So everybody loved you

So why'd you go and throw it all away?

The Times, they are a-changing

My life is rearranging

I'm living in the grey, yeah.

Breathing with a reason

The everlasting season

I'm living in the grey, yeah.

So many years until today

Lost, but now you've found the way

An open mind can open eyes

So now you're open to the pain

Sitting naked in the rain

Well, I will dry the tears you cry.

Angels must have sent you
'cause everybody meant to give you time
But then you slipped away.
The Times, they are a-changing
My life is rearranging
I'm living in the grey, yeah.
Breathing with a reason
The everlasting season
I'm living in the grey, yeah.
Stars would shine above you
So everybody loved you
So why'd you go and throw it all away.
The Times, they are a-changing
My life is rearranging
I'm living in the grey, yeah.
Breathing with a reason
The everlasting season
I'm living in the grey, yeah.
The Times, they are a-changing
My life is rearranging
I'm living in the grey, yeah.
Breathing with a reason
The everlasting season
I'm living in the grey, yeah, yeah, yeah.
