Day by day
I seek the possibilities
Searching for
The one thing I lack
Look at the hour glass
Count down, a decision to make
Let the mind race, at a fast pace
Take me to another place

Lost and found again
Right before the fork in the road
I start then begin
Right before the fork in the road
I split apart in two
Never to discover you
I carry this giant load
Left me before the fork in the road

Stop
I believe the day is dawning, before the truth
No hint no clue, who knows what to do
Green again
Time to chase those feelings away

Look at the hour glass
Count down, a decision to make
Let the mind race, at a fast pace
Take me to another place

Lost and found again
Right before the fork in the road
I start then begin
Right before the fork in the road
I split apart in two

Never to discover you
I carry this giant load

Time's ticking, you must make up your mind
(Yes, I will, yes I will)
The moment is gone without a thrill

(Yes, I will, yes I will)

Look at the hour glass
Count down, a decision to make
Let the mind race, at a fast pace
Take me to another place

Lost and found again
Right before the fork in the road
I start then begin
I split apart in two
Never to discover you

Lost and found again
I start then begin
I split apart in two
