If you put yourself in my sorry situation
Tell me, would you dare?
And if I told you that my road in life was nearly broken
Would you even care?

It's easy to tell me exactly what I should be
Your perfect picture of me
I'm sorry, excuse me, won't live the life that you led
Your words doing nothing but just messing up inside
my head

It would be better if you just hold me
And show me that you care
It would be easier if you just loved me
Show me that you're there

If I opened up and gave you some affection
Tell me, would you dare?
If I told you that my happiness depends on you
Would you even care?

It's easy to tell me exactly what I should be

Your perfect picture of me
I'm sorry, excuse me, won't live the life that you led
Your words doing nothing but just messing up inside
my head

It would be better if you just hold me
And show me that you care
It would be easier if you just loved me
Show me that you're there

My love there is tension, lost the affection
My candle has burned out
My love, I'm freezing
Is it cold in here?
Would you please take my hand?

It would be better if you just hold me
And show me that you care
It would be easier if you just loved me

Show me that you're there
