Lately I've been skeptical
Silent when I would used to speak
Distant from all around me
Who witness me fail and become weak
Life is overwhelming
Heavy is the head that wears the crown
I'd love to be the one to disappoint you
When I don't fall down

But you don't understand when
I'm attempting to explain
Because you know it all
And I guess things will never change
But you might need my hand when
Falling in your hole
Your disposition I'll remember
When I'm letting go of...

You and me
We're through
And re-arranged

It seems that your not satisfied
There's too much on your mind
So you leave and I can't believe
All the bullshit that I find
Life is overwhelming
Heavy is the head that wears the crown
I'd love to be the one to disappoint you
When I don't fall down

But you don't understand when
I'm attempting to explain
Because you know it all
And I guess things will never change
But you might need my hand when
Falling in your hole
Your disposition I'll remember
When I'm letting go of

You and me
We're through

And re-arranged
You and me
We're through
And re-arranged
You're no good for me
Thank God it's over

You make believe
That nothing is wrong until you're cryin'
And you make believe
Life is so long until you're dyin'
You make believe
That nothing is wrong until you're cryin', cryin' on me
You make believe
That life is so long until you're dyin', (dyin') dyin' on me

You think everybody is the same
I don't think that anybody is like you (2x)

You ruin everything
You kept fuckin' with me
Until it's over and I
Won't be the same (2x)

Just think about
You'll get it
