~Talking~

The problems I think with most relationships is that..

We take each other for granted

Me and my girlfriends talk about this all the time

There's one in particular she's been in her relationship

For three years and she feels like she's not getting

100%

You know it's give, give, give, and get nothing in return

But I just told her...

It ain't gone get no better until you take control

See girlfriend if you let him, let him he'll try and take your soul

But tell him, HELL NO, it ain't goin down like that

And tell him as a matter of fact things around here are gone change

And if he wants you then he gone have to give you his best

You ain't gone take nothing less, tell him it's a brand

new day

So be a man and..

Step up, you gotta let him know that you're fed up

Don't let him hold you down time to get up

I tell you it's the only way, only way so don't you

Let up it's all about you so hold your head up

And if you can't get it right it's time to shake up

Child it's the only way

See what is is is....

He's taking you for granted you let it be that way

Now you must make him listen. listen

To you when you say ,hell no, HELL NO it ain't going down like that

And tell him as a matter of fact things around here are

gone change

And if he wants you then he gone have to give you his

best

You ain't gone take nothing less tell him it's a brand

new day

So be a man and...

Step up you got to let him know that you're fed up

Don't let him hold you down time to get up

I tell you it's the only way, only way so don't you

Let up it's all about you so hold your head up
And if you can't get it right it's time to shake up Child it's the
