Halo, can you hear me?
Halo, fading in silence

I know you hear me
I know you're there being quiet
Someday your song I'll sing for you that finally says
Goodbye
Right now the words don't come to me
I'm torn apart trying

Love grows, but not when you're absent
What they can do to trust, look what it's done for us
How could it change from what it was so quickly to what It is now?
After that mad year dreading this, the fear of finding Out

Far beyond reach
Far beyond hope
Where even dreams feature a sad lonely show

Halo (halo)
Halo (halo)
Halo

I can still touch you in my mind
I know precisely what you're like
Follow your footsteps through the sand Understand?

Last time we kissed
That night was a mess
Didn't it rain or was it you?

These days I'm watching replays
Triggered in my mind's eye, no matter how I try
I see our love in many lands, especially memories of Our
But Paris, Athens and Amsterdam, and ever London now is

Far beyond reach

Far beyond hope
Where even dreams feature a sad lonely show

Still, when I find I'm in your town
And I would love to come around
It's only sixteen minutes there, on a bike
But I get feelings, can't shake them off
Sometimes it seems I've been robbed

Halo (halo)
Halo (halo)
Halo
