What if I said you had to leave me
Would you believe that it was you I was thinking of What if I told you just to fly free
Would you believe it was so you'd be better off

What if I told you I'm ready
What if I told you I'm prepared to make that sacrifice
Would you believe it was the best I could do
Well maybe not, but it's true cos I would even die for you

If I told you that I've loved you from that first sight
Would you believe me for I swear I tell no lie
What if I told you that just last night
I made my mind up and I promised not to cry

What if I told you I'm ready
What if I told you I'm prepared to make that sacrifice
Would you believe it was the best I could do
Well maybe not, but it's true
cos I would even die for you

So now my love I have to leave you
For once my words have to replace your tender love
That always paints my sky in clear blue
To try and paint this final portrait of my love cos baby now I am ready cos baby now I am prepared to let you out of my life

And when you said my eyes were beautiful
That's cos they were looking at you
Goodbye my love just do what you do
