Just me and my dear old madre walkin through the state fair on a dusty day snortin cotton candy and pointin out the freaks that are strollin up and down the garbage strewn midway
we secretly laughed at the black toothed man ho works at the boothe where you throw the balls for the cheap stuffed animals god i felt like i could win them all (sno cone of love)
(get your ticketes and stand in line for the sno cone of love)
corn dogs mingled with dust and sweat make a horrid taste but i can't get enough the recipe makes me hallucinate my own sno cone of
love
you see it for a second then it's gone (sno cone of love) your vision quest is mowing the lawn (sno cone of love) i don;t think that you understand that when it's your time, watch carefully (sno cone of love)
the vision came with the force of a thousand horses -- steeds of rage and might while others watched ponies swirling til they died in that cloudy moonless night the churning lights of the ferris wheel will blind the wise and confound the fools but i saw the light, i felt the love -- their eyes were murky pools my day at the dusty state fair left me with some questions and some memories vague recollections of what i ate and the endless march of petting zoo ponies i secretly laugh at the black toothed man whose eyes were clear and focused above at the rotating lights above my foggy head was it his own sno cone of love?

your vision quest is mowing the lawn (sno cone of love) i don't think you understand that when it's your time, watch carefully

(right this way for the sno cone of love)
