Broken when I'm kneeling
I find in my hidden shelter
With You, raw and pure is treasure
I know deep within Your presence, oh Lord

And this hopefulness You give me
Oh, nothing can compare

And as the world will change
You'll always be the same
And the days will fade away
But You remain the same

Broken when I realize
That You love me in my weakness
And You have given more in my life
And I'm humbled by Your kindness, oh Lord

And this hopefulness You give me
Oh, nothing can compare

And as the world will change
You'll always be the same
And the days will fade away
But You remain the same

And You will always be the same

And as the world will change
You'll always be the same
And the days will fade away
But You remain the same

And as the world will change
You'll always be the same
And the days will fade away
But You remain the same
