Having nothing better to do with my time I wandered across these emotions of mine Finding features that stuck in my head, I'm trying not to think of you lying there dead

You've always been happy to be the person to say that you're better than me
You've always been happy to be the person to say that
you're better than me
Better than me, better than me, better than me

It's taking its toll on me trying to find the reasons to help me believe
It's taking its toll on me I'm stuck inside the feeling
that's better than me

At school you always had me running around chasing things that would bleed I never had sense to stop to take a good look at the holes in your plot

But now you'll always be feeling the doubt that was better than me
But now you'll always be feeling the doubt that was
better than me

It's taking its toll on me, tried to find the reasons that helped me believe
It's taking its toll on me, I'm stuck inside the feeling
that's better than me
I'm stuck inside the feeling that's better than me
I'm stuck inside the feeling that's better than me
I'm stuck inside the feeling that's better than me
Better than me, better than me
