Tryin' hard to weigh up the situation
But without my mind's full cooperation
How can I have something to believe in When I don't even listen to the mouth the words are leaving

Forever falling on my face and bruising
Forever falling on my face and bruising
On my face

Tryin' hard, to weigh up the situation
These clothes I wear aren't real, they're only imitation
They're only there, to divert people's attention

While I try and assess them out, I try and get to know them

Forever falling on my face and bruising
Forever falling on my face and bruising

Situation's trying hard, situation's on the car
Situation's on the car, situation's trying hard
Situation's trying hard, situation's on the car
Situation's on the car, situation's trying hard

Without my mind's full cooperation
