a place that i could go to
no longer welcomes me outcasted and rejected i thought that it was different now i know that isn't true you wear it on your sleeve, i wear it in my heart
you were so quick to finish i have yet to start something far too perfect is never what it seems the reality i wanted
lives only in my dreams it's so sad that your life revolves around a fad you're burning down your future while you're building up your past
THE UNITY THEY SOLD TO ME WAS AN UGLY FUCKING LIE

THEY'VE CAST ME OUT AND I'VE SEEN THE TRUTH
'cause I OPENED UP MY EYES a fantasy i lived in has now crashed into the ground now nothing looks the same it's all been turned around i thought that i could life it and change the way things are but i lived that way for years and nothing's changed so far it took so long to build it this home i thought i'd found but where there's smoke there's fire and now it's burning down
