You tried to find the reason why it all ran away,
And you think of what you could have done different.
When you thought you were complete,
You opened up your eye
When you thought you had it all
That's when you lost it
If you want to hold on to everything
You will fall.

You are around chasing things that disappear.
You can get enough 'cause you want it all
When you thought you were ok
You opened up your eye
When you thought you had it all
That's when you lost it

If you want to hold on to everything
You will fall.

When you thought you had it all
That's when you lost it
If you want to hold on to everything
You will fall.
When you thought you had it all
That's when you lost it
If you want to hold on to everything
You will fall
