Live a life that's sheltered
I'm constantly alone
I'm pointing out my weakness
There's an emptiness at home

I need to find a reason to live this way
I'm running out of patience and my life is over

I'm standing here but I'm on my way
Searching to find an answer
I'm standing here but it's all the same
And I'm running out of patience

Well I will take my reason for you
And I have gained a reason for you
But you left me
You left me here and I'm all alone

I've been stripped of my young innocence
I take pity in myself
A certain chain of events
That have left me in this hell

I need to find a reason to live this way
I'm running out of patience and my life is over

I'm standing here but I'm on my way
Searching to find an answer
I'm standing here but it's all the same

And I'm running out of patience

Well I will take my reason for you
And I have gained a reason for you
But you left me
You left me here and I'm all alone
I'm all alone, I'm all alone, I'm all alone, I'm all alone

Well I'm searching to find my reason
To find a reason, to find my reason
Why I need you
And I need you and I want you

But I need to get away from you
And I need you and I want you
But I need to get away from you
But I need you and I want you
But I need to get away from you
And I need you and I want you
But I need to get away from the other

And I will take my reason for you
And I needed someone to love me
But you just left me here and I'm lonely
You know I needed someone to love me
But I'm all alone
