walk out the door and you know what I see feels like a million people looking at me everyone with an opinion on something I go through the motions in my usual way Listen to the thoughts the other people convey What I should wear or the songs that I should sing I think I'll sing what I wanna sing and I think I'll bring what I wanna bring and

I found clarity
I found clarity
I found clarity
I found clarity on the kill floor baby they try and trap you but you have to break free could you really give a fuck if they could agree too much of anything gets boring real fast your drummer always playing to a different beat they stand still when you need to move your feet look to the future just forget the past and go on and move your feet just go on and move your feet pack your shit we've got 'til 9 tonight I can't wait 'til we plug in the mic so I can feel a little more like me all I needed was...

CLARITY
