

Lions And Tigers And Bears "Funeral Procession"

Visit "Funeral Procession" on MotoLyrics.com

The farthest thing from my mind the ordinary
So long ago
Youthful exuberance left my vocabulary
So long ago
I think I need it back I guess I should stop to take a moment to enjoy myself see there's something else something else when everything around me spins so fast I can't react pay attention appreciate a thing or two The sound of silence surrounded me I asked if He found the city quiet
The same thing happens each and every week if You look around you should try it I think he was right Walks through life his personal funeral procession Ignore the corpse you'll get out of here soon Wandering alone another dimension but his body never left the room Casket breaks the silence falls onto the ground
Back to reality back to reality Head snaps back reacting to the sound
He was perfectly happy a moment ago Sometimes the conscious needs to hit me in the face before I wind up face down one day never truly appreciate the things that I've been missing all this time living my life half awake
I'm never gonna let another moment pass me by

Visit Lions And Tigers And Bears page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.