I've been hiding in this bed for weeks from this
Throat's raw from screaming and I haven't said a word
The sky is calling and the stars they point to this

To a chair we see your breath in the air
But only for a little while
Your cold pale skin and tainted purple lips
Let me embrace you with this kiss

And together we'll float like angels
Together, together we will float, like, angels

Higher than the heavens the clouds part ways
Promise me to never look down
And we'll stay like this forever

If your stomach feels weak then my work here is done

To hide from our twisted ways
I've been hiding in this bed
Been hiding in this bed for weeks
