i dreamt of all my lovers and i stand and scream, "i'm in love".

you gave into me through the eyes hatred seems to redeem itself

i was wrong, graceless, and sick all of the things that i have learned have been wasted there was no living creature as foul as i

and all of my bones were false i can feel my soul dropping down through the night i had two links before it hit the floor and i'm so alone elimination held out in front of my reaching arms the darker things get the better i see i'm so alone and so are you, we'll never die, never die you gave into me through the eyes hatred seems to redeem itself

and all of my bones were false
i could feel myself dropping down
i could feel myself dropping down
