Lay down
From what I've heard, this won't hurt
Look around
You've got it all, and all I want
Tied down
I'm still scared of what's in your head
Look around
I give up, I've had enough

I'm never coming back here again
My memory has died on me again
How dare you put that shit in my head
And I don't see how that's at all fair

Let down
You lost it all, it's all your fault
Look around
Was it too much to ask to leave it in the past

I'm never coming back here again
My memory has died on me again
How dare you put that shit in my head
And I don't see how that's at all fair

You lost it all, it's all your fault

I'm never coming back here again
My memory has died on me again
How dare you put that shit in my head
And I don't see how that's at all fair
Look at me, It's not at all fair
Are you watching me, I'm getting out of here
