Let me be the one you said to me
Show your mercy, help me, cause I try so hard it hurts to
Be here and attend this ethic war Embrace me with your shelter, 'cause it get's cold when he tells me

All these lies...

For how long, will the fire burn
'Cause it saves and it kills... me
For how long, will eternity last for the thrill
How long must I wait to see his holyness
How long must it take, before the master sees me
See me now, please hear me now

You're rockin' on your seesaw night and day Where nothing makes a difference, nothing seems to change here
Scared to feel the ground beneath your feet Scared to loose your grip and fall down, back where you belong, love
Wash it away yeah... wash it away

For how long, will the fire burn
'Cause it saves and it kills... me
For how long, will eternity last for the thrill
How long must I wait to see his holyness
How long must it take, before the master sees me
See me now, please hear me now

I was wrong and hated being right
You gave the world a reason, so it shouldn't be a problem
Gave us something to believe in here
We blew it into pieces then we, shovelled in the dirt

For how long, will the fire burn
'Cause it saves and it kills... me
For how long, will eternity last for the thrill
How long must I wait to see his holyness
How long must it take, before the master sees me

See me now, please hear me now
