Who's going to save tonight, It is hard to not give in because you're no longer breathing and who's going to save tonight if I don't who's going to save tonight, I am down on my knees but I'm too proud to say please and who's going to save tonight if you won't

All the roads that we're travelling up and down don't you want our hearts to sing?
I'll know myself
but I wonder where you came from?
Following every step up and down, running high still so far away
and I wonder where you came from

Who's going to save us now when our enemies' calling when I'm down and your falling baby who's going to save us now if we won't don't want to hurt tonight, there is much good in me and there's much good in you so we got to save tonight cause they won't

don't you want our hearts to sing?
I'll know myself
but I wonder where you came from?
Following every step
up and down, running high
still so far away
and I wonder where you came from

Why start a fire when it's all worth saving don't you want to know now don't you want to feel me closer too I walk trough wires cause it's all worth breaking don't you want to know now don't you want to feel it close to you

All the roads we are travelling up and down I would carry anything that's all I know (you) got to tell me where you came from following every turn up and down want to learn, everything tonight and I'm going to go to where you came from Cause I'm going to go to where you came from
