"Light Years Away"

It's been a long road with not much air to breathe
We're fighting so hard now for things that once came naturally
We use to paint our dreams across an endless sky
I confess I think there something more to life then what we see
I know I still believe
Cause there's you and there's me
And there's all the things we could be
Its gonna take a leap of faith
But love will get us to a new place
It will all be clear
And we'll be light years away from here
Open up the window I want to feel a breeze
Shake off all the dust we need a change of scenery
Tell me aren't you glad we did not walk away
Maybe it's enough to still believe the possibility
That love is all we need
Well, there's you and there's me
And there's all the things we could be
Its gonna take a leap of faith
But love will get us to a new place
It will all be clear
And we'll be light years away from here
And it's so hard
We make it so dam hard
We've gotta lose this place
It's our only chance
Maybe it's enough to still believe the possibility
That love is all we need
Cause there's you and there's me
And there's all the things we could be
Its gonna take a leap of faith
But love will get us to a new place
It will all be clear
And we'll be light years away from here
