

Lisasmith

"For All I Am"

Visit "For All I Am" on MotoLyrics.com

Who do you think I am or who I should be?
I need to know that you are mine. I ask you to comfort and hold me.
Come now sit beside me, you'd love to love me.
I hide behind this smile of mine and wonder do you see right through me.

Does it matter that I should not need you? Does it matter that I could not see you?
Does it matter that I would not be you? Can you love me
for all I am?
Does it matter that I still will carry the pieces of this story?
Come tomorrow morning, Iâ'm standing here with all I am.

I can hardly argue, youâ're meant to cure me.
Born scared and frail Iâ'm sure youâ'll find, I am calmed by the silence inside you?
Come now sit beside me, you'd love to love me.
I take you only as you stand, but with this you get all that I am.

Does it matter that I should not need you? Does it
matter that I could not see you?
Does it matter that I would not be you? Can you love me
for all I am?
Does it matter that I still will carry the pieces of this story?
Come tomorrow morning, Iâ'm standing here with all I
am.

Visit Lisasmith page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.