"Still Life"

I remember
When all the leaves have touched the ground
With a love of life that's so profound
And as you turn and walk by me
I remember
In the paler midnight sky
As I lay I hear you sigh
And a chill blows through my heart
A chill blows through my heart
Anywhere you are
Driving in your car

You go through my head
You go through my head
With every single day
And every word you say
Goes through my head
It goes through my head
I'll be someone
Who will try to lend a hand
In a way I understand
When a chill blows through my heart
You're keeping us apart
Repeat Chorus...
