This isÅ´nt about anything special... just wrote it Cause I wanted something in English...
And like, see how it sounds!
It's a little different from what I use to do A little confused...

Standing on the edge, watching my life pass by See a reflection of my self, high upon the sky
Waiting for something, perhaps of better times Like the times, when it allways was u and I Not a day is passing by, without thinking of u Thinking for my self, whyÅ´'s life so cruel
What did I do wrong, to serve this life of pain
When she was the one, playing me like a game
That's just one of million questions I have to god
I'm standing here to face you, crying tears of blood Angels whispering, I can hear them calling my name But before I go, thereÅ´'s so much I want to say...

I thought you were the one, but I couldÅ´nt be more wrong
I feel so stupid now, knowing that you tricked me all along
When looking back on the start, everything seemd so great
But when I found out everything was a game, it was to late
I had my I had my suspicions, but I didÅ´nt wanna believe they were true
I thought everything were fine, it was all me and you I'm still waiting for an answeare, where did all go so wrong?
How could all of this happen, when our love was so strong?

We wereÅ´nt just lovers, we were also the best of friends
Saying that our love, would never come to an end
But look how it went, everything we said ran out in sand Pretty much all I can think of, is the first time that we hold hands
And the first time ever I got to look you deep into your eyes

That's a memory I will have within, until the day that I die

And that day, seems to come much sooner than I thought

But to see you with someone else, would really crush my heart!

So I'm standing on the edge, told you all you need to know

Your eyes is the only thing I see in front of me, while falling down.

If you ever come to heaven, you know where to find me, right?

All you need to do, is to follow the light...
